Foundation for Delaware County announces new board members

MEDIA — The Foundation for Delaware County recently announced the election of three new board members: Cyrise Dixon, Michael Magnavita and Kate Zidek.

Dixon, a resident of Chester, was the first female patrol officer in the city of Chester and currently serves as the chief of staff for the Chester Police Department. Dixon is actively involved in the Chester community with a focus on community empowerment and development, public safety, youth development, and enhancing the lives of senior citizens.

Magnavita is President and CEO of Franklin Mint Federal Credit Union. He presently serves on the Board of Directors of the Good Fellowship Ambulance and EMS Training Institute, Delaware County Community College Educational Foundation and White Horse Village.

Zidek works as an investment officer for Argo Capital Group. In addition to her position on the Investment Committee for The Foundation for Delaware County, Zidek serves on the endowment board of Methodist Services in Philadelphia and recently completed her tenure as trustee on the board of the School in Rose Valley.

The Foundation for Delaware County is a public charity founded in 2016, The foundation is the largest philanthropy serving Delaware County.
